

October 19th, 2014 (Sunday) from noon-1pm
Framingham Elks, 450 Union Ave, Framingham, MA 01702
(Floating meetings are held across the New England Area)

Ever thought of starting a saltwater tank or keeping saltwater corals.
Well, this is your lucky day!

Boston Reefers is holding a one time event for those who are interested in getting into the saltwater hobby.

The cost to you? FREE! Just RSVP.

What will be covered: All the basics – building out a tank, substrate, water quality, rock work, cycling, testing your water and picking livestock.

This months guest speaker @ 1pm will be:
award-winning freelance writer and photographer Ret Talbot

RSVP to: officers@bostonreefers.org by 10/17/14 due to limited space.

Boston Reefers Society is a non-profit dedicated to promoting and education of the marine hobby.

More information can be found at their website:

<http://www.bostonreefers.org/forums/content.php>